Editor, Lacombe Globe:

Dear Sir—In his second broadcast, "Facts About Banking," Mr. Knowles has tried to hide the fact that banks create money, and failed.

Mr. McKenna's statement was made, as chairman, to the shareholders of the Midland Bank on Jan. 25, 1924, as follows: "I am afraid the ordinary citizen will not like to be told that banks can and do create and destroy money. The amount of money in existence varies only with the action of the banks in decreasing or increasing the deposits and bank purchases. Every loan, overdraft or bank purchase creates a deposit, and every repayment of a loan, overdraft or bank purchase destroys a deposit." He added "and those who control the credit of a nation direct the policy of governments and hold in the hollow of their hands the destiny of the people."

The Macmillan Report (par. 74) says: "Banks can carry on a process of lending and purchasing investments until such time as the credits created or investments purchased represent nine times the amount of the original deposit of $1000 to each." Mr. Knowles says that these deposits are liabilities in the bank's books, and he thinks this destroys the truth of the statement. Of course a deposit is a liability for the bank to the public, but it is also a liability for the public to the bank. The two balance one another.

Consider a bank's balance sheet. On the assets side are cash on hand, cash deposited with the Central Bank, loans to customers and securities. On the liability side are customers' current accounts and deposits, shareholders' capital and bank reserves.

If the banks make a loan or pay securities they increase the balance of their customers' current accounts and deposits—that is their customers' money. A bank lends, say, to a producer in order that he may build a factory. The money passes via the manufacturer to the contractor's current or deposit account. These accounts are new money because the balance of no other depositors have been reduced by the transaction. It is true that the manufacturer (Continued On Page Four)

BENTLEY SHIPS VEGETABLES TO DROUTH AREAS

Car License Reduction Takes Effect October 1

The first reduction of passenger car licenses under the new license year which opened April 1 will become effective Oct. 1. Those applying for car licenses on Oct. 1 and thereafter will be granted a reduction of 40 per cent on the amount of the annual license. The new license taken out at this time will be good until March 31, 1938.

Owners turning in their car license plates at the end of this year will be given a 20 per cent rebate on their annual license fee. The absolute "dead-line" for turning in plates in order to obtain this rebate will be Jan. 10, 1938.

Farmers Forbidden To Burn Straw Stacks this Fall

Prevalence of Weed Seeds Will Make No Exception to Legislation Passed in 1936

A letter has been received by E. Walter Simpson, secretary-treasurer of the M.D. of Crown, from the Provincial Department of Agriculture regarding the burning of straw stacks. Several farmers, according to Mr. Simpson, have requested permission to burn their straw stacks this year because of the number of weed seeds in the straw. Legislation was passed last year forbidding the burning of any straw stacks, and according to a letter from D. S. Longman, Field Crops Commissioner for the Province of Alberta, no exceptions will be made.

Mr. Longman, in his letter, states in part: "I hesitate to permit the burning of straw in your district, even though the stacks may be polluted with wild oats and possibly other noxious weeds. The weeds will not spread to any extent from the stacks, and it is our opinion that the straw should not be destroyed, at least until next spring."

"As far as we have information, purchases of straw and other feed may be made from Saskatchewan."

2627 Head of Sheep Shipped Into Bentley District

BENTLEY.—A total of 2627 head of lambs and sheep have been shipped into the Bentley district during the past two weeks from the Bentley district. This livestock will be fed and fattened by local farmers.

A. B. Haastad received 1100 head and W. J. Beger 1527.

High School Royals Drop Game to Ponoka

The Lacombe High School Royals failed to stop the visiting Ponoka football team on Monday and dropped the first game of the year's campaign 6-0. The Royals twice outweighted the local boys and appeared to have had more practice but they well deserved their victory.

All the scoring came within three minutes after the opening kick-off as the Northerners started out strong to go in for a touchdown and a convert.

Nipfel romped over the line for the major count while Nelson made the kick.

From there on the ball went up and down the field, first with one team, then with the other, but no further scoring resulted.

Ponoka—Nipfel, full back; Kennerly and Holmes, halves; Nelson, quarter; Cleckner and Huskroft, wings; Innis, flying wing; Corser and Jensen, ends; Stowell and Waters, middles; Watson, centre. Subs: Carter, Casey, Shepperd.

Lacombe—Al. Troit, full back; L. Hainsworth and Barr Gilmore, halves; Irvin Todd, quarter; Bill Gilmore and Charles Reed, wings; Bill Waterman, flying wing; Elmer Young and Bob Waterman, ends; R. Wilkes and V. Miles, middles; Webster, centre. Sub: A. Gilmore.

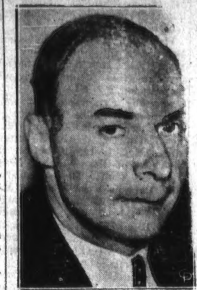

Mrs. W. R. Inskip Passes Away

Mrs. William Robert Inskip, mother of Miss Alice Inskip and Al Inskip of Lacombe, passed away quietly at the family residence in Plymouth, England, on Tuesday morning, September 28th. She was 85 years old. This was the information received in a cable to Miss Inskip from her brother, Mr. Inskip, who was present at the time of his mother's death.

Mrs. Inskip, whose husband predeceased her 32 years ago, visited her son and daughter in Lacombe in 1911 and 1913. She leaves to mourn her loss six girls and two boys, of whom two daughters, Mrs. Dolmage of Vancouver and Miss Alice Inskip, and one son, Alfred, of Lacombe, live in Canada.

Mrs. Inskip was born in Rhyndyke and passed away on the same street in which she was born.

Liberal Candidate

Lionel Conacher (above), the "Big Train" of sport, announced he would take part in no more sports as a competitor following his being nominated as Liberal candidate for Brudenell riding in the forthcoming Ontario provincial election. In accepting the nomination he announced he had been assured by Premier Hepburn that a program for youth would receive consideration.

Amateur Contest to Be Held in Pavilion On November 11

Making such a decided hit last year, another big amateur contest and concert will be held on Armistice night, Thursday, Nov. 11, in the Town Hall on Thursday night, Sept. 30, to discuss a Shopping Carnival and Entertainment. This decision was reached at a meeting of the executive of the Board of Trade, held Monday morning.

The motion was as follows: "That a meeting of the business men and others interested be called on Thursday evening, Sept. 30, to discuss a Shopping Carnival and Entertainment, the meeting to take place in the Town Hall at 8 o'clock."

Arrangements for the shopping carnival of vegetables to the drouth stricken areas were made at an executive meeting of the Lacombe and District Board of Trade held Monday morning in the office of the secretary, Jesse Fraser.

A special committee consisting of C. E. Todd, Dr. E. M. Sharpe, G. T. Jackson and B. S. Cameron was appointed to take charge of the donations, which must be in their hands not later than Oct. 8.

The warehouse of Distributors Ltd. has been made available for the storing of donations and C. E. Todd has consented to look after their receipt and storage. It will materially assist the committee in charge if donations are shipped in sacks, where possible.

The secretaries of all rural schools in this district have received a letter asking them to give their co-operation in this worthy effort.

D. B. MacMillan, Local M.L.A., Replies To Speech from Throne

Criticizing the opponents of Social Credit, D. Bruce MacMillan, M.L.A. for the Lacombe constituency, in responding to the address to the Throne from the Throne in the Legislature last Friday, said:

Mr. Speaker—In rising to second the Motion to adopt the Grievous Speech of His Honour, I full realize the compliment paid to the Lacombe Constituency. I shall not take up the time of the House to enumerate the beauties of this Constituency, as they are well-known to all, holding as it does, an outstanding position for the variety and quality of its agricultural products, and also outstanding for the beauty of its women and the intelligence of its electors, this latter point being proven by its having refused to elect to office a Liberal member for a period now of over 20 years.

Legislation passed by this Government some six or seven weeks ago has stirred up a regular hornet's nest of speeches and radio broadcasts. Many of these are amusing, especially when they

Freedom Must Be Preserved!

This week The Western Globe celebrates its second anniversary under new ownership. For two years The Western Globe has been a strictly independent paper, supporting none of the political parties and singling out none for attack. Its columns have been open to the views of all, and many have made use of them.

Legislation which has recently been proposed, and adopted, by the Provincial Government leads us to attack certain policies of the present regime. We believe that the Social Credit Government has overstepped its powers. It has brought down legislation which cannot stand; legislation that is in defiance of the Canadian Constitution, and which if enforced will do away with the civil rights of a certain class of people, deny them access to the courts, and destroy the freedom of the press.

Furthermore, one act gives one man the power to grant or withhold a license to any business in Alberta, businesses which cannot legally operate without a license. In other words, this cabinet minister has every business man, professional man or farmer in the palm of his hand. To him is given the power to state whether any person may or may not continue in business. Is that government of the people, for the people, by the people?

Canada is the home of the Free—how often we have heard these words—but, how long is Alberta, an integral part of Canada, to be the home of the Free? Recent legislation passed would write Finis to British rights, of freedom secured by great sacrifice gained only through a stubborn fight waged by the people since the days of the Magna Charta.

To Discuss Shopping Carnival

A meeting of the business men of the town is to be held in the Town Hall on Thursday night, Sept. 30, to discuss a Shopping Carnival and Entertainment. This decision was reached at a meeting of the executive of the Board of Trade, held Monday morning.

The motion was as follows: "That a meeting of the business men and others interested be called on Thursday evening, Sept. 30, to discuss a Shopping Carnival and Entertainment, the meeting to take place in the Town Hall at 8 o'clock."

To Ship Vegetables To Dried-out Areas Of Southern Alberta

No Hockey Team this Year, Possibility

Lack of Local Interest May Force Fade-Out

Twelve persons in all attended the annual meeting of the Lacombe Intermediate Hockey Club scheduled to be held in the Town Hall last Monday night. Attendance was so slim that the meeting was not called to order and ended flatly that, in their opinion, if the attendance at the meeting to be held next Monday was not satisfactory, there was a probability no hockey team from Lacombe would enter an Intermediate Hockey League.

Surly there are enough citizens in Lacombe interested enough in hockey to give one night of their time and help the club get organized. Prominent in hockey for a good many years, it will be held Saturday at 2 o'clock in the Community Hall west of Blackfalds.

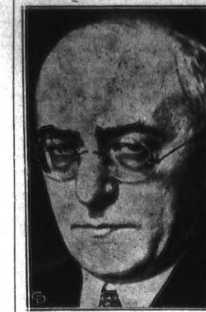

Let's get out and support the hockey club, will put Lacombe back in the spotlight as being a "sporty" town!

Rev. A. L. Carr to Be Minister at St. Andrew's Church

Rev. A. L. Carr of Bawlf, Alta., was given a cordial welcome by a large congregation gathered in St. Andrew's United Church on Sunday night to elect a new minister. Rev. Carr was the minister in charge of the service held in the church on Sept. 19.

A call has been issued to Rev. Carr and it is hoped he will be able to occupy his pulpit by the first Sunday in November.

Fears Nazi Agents

Because he feared that Nazi agents would track him down, Dr. Heinrich Bruening (above), chancellor of Germany from 1930 to 1932, requested that unauthorized persons be prevented from attending a lecture he delivered before the Canadian Institute of International Affairs at Toronto, on Tuesday night. He had been in Germany a few days before the great "purge" of 1934. So private was the lecture that newspapermen were not allowed to attend for fear undue publicity would direct the attention of German agents to him.

George W. Petry, of Blackfalds District, Passed Away Tuesday

George W. Petry, a resident of this district since 1905, passed away quietly at his farm home, 11 miles west of Blackfalds, on July 24, 1937. He had been ailing for the past year.

Mr. Petry, who homesteaded in 1905 southwest of Bentley for eight years, was born in the U.S. on July 24, 1875. He had been an honored and respected citizen of the community in which he lived for many years, and very well known throughout the province.

Funeral arrangements are in the hands of the Lacombe Funeral Home and the funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 o'clock from the Community Hall west of Blackfalds.

Mr. Petry is survived by his wife and seven daughters, Mrs. P. Deering of Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. McKewen, living southwest of Lacombe; Mrs. J. McKay, living near Chigwell; Mrs. J. Blisch of Bentley; Mrs. Glen Mitchell of Red Deer; Grace of Seattle and Bertha, living at home.

Four boys also live to mourn his loss, Charles of Seattle; Cecil, living northeast of Lacombe, and Gordon and Leslie, living at home.

Vegetable Stories Arouse Competition

And now it's squash! Twenty-one pounds ten ounces, grown in the garden of J. J. Corban of Rosedale valley. Mr. Corban claims he has over one ton of Hubbard's yellow squash, each one averaging between 12 and 15 pounds. Cabbages, too, are of a jumbo size. Mr. Corban states.

Having read an article in the Globe last week regarding a cabbage weighing 14 pounds, he states he has several of this weight, and some weighing well over 14 pounds.

And if you want to see that squash, drop in to the Globe office. It would make a sizeable amount of sauer-kraut for lovers of that dish. Mr. Corbaner supplied the cabbage plant.

Showing the productivity of the soil on their farm, Mrs. S. C. Abbott brought to the Western Globe office last week-end a cabbage of abnormal size, weighing 16 1/2 pounds. It would make a sizeable amount of sauer-kraut for lovers of that dish. Mr. Corbaner supplied the cabbage plant.

And Charlie Hubbard draws objection to the 14-pound cabbage mentioned in these columns last week being described as large. He has one head that weighs slightly over 21 pounds, and claims he has several more weighing over 14 pounds.

Lacombe School to Compete in Track Meet at Wetaskiwin

By JACK MCCAUGHERTY

Next Friday, October 8, the annual school track meet gets under way to its second year of competition in Wetaskiwin. Once again athletes from Lacombe, Ponoka, Wetaskiwin, Camrose, Leduc and Millet will clash in events to see which school is the champion of sports.

The locals have been training under the supervision of the teachers for the past few weeks and it looks as if Lacombe has quite a flashy array of talent this year, although there will not be as many athletes as last season. Our school paced third in the running in points behind Wetaskiwin and Camrose a year ago but was well ahead in first. Here's wishing the green and gold troupe from Lacombe the best of luck this time, and you know we're all pulling for you to come out on top.

The schedule allows two entries from each school for each event but one only in team events.

AIRPLANE PARTY STOPS TO WARM UP

Surprising some of the local natives, an airplane which appeared to be forced down, landed this (Thursday) morning about 10 o'clock in the pasture just south of the Experimental Station buildings. It was discovered, however, that three Americans, occupants of the open cockpit biplane, had just landed to warm themselves up. They were returning from a hunting trip at Jasper, to their homes at Great Falls, Mont., and took off shortly after getting warmed up.

Pretty Wedding Held Sunday at Church in Spruceville District

SPRUCEVILLE.—Clarence Talma was married to Miss Minnie Solomons on Sunday last at the Dutch Church. The bride was dressed in pink silk and had some of the accessories. Her mother and father, who come from the dried-out area in Saskatchewan, have been here for some time, visiting, and just landed to warm themselves up. They were returning from a hunting trip at Jasper, to their homes at Great Falls, Mont., and took off shortly after getting warmed up.

There was a large attendance at the church, despite bad roads. Monday evening a reception was held at the home of the bride's married sister, Mrs. Kamp, who resides on the George Chesswell farm.

INDIA CONSUMES ITS WHEAT

India is one of the largest wheat producing countries of the world but the wheat is used almost entirely in home consumption. Wheat, with rice second, is the staple diet of the large native populations of Bombay, United Provinces, the Central Provinces, Punjab and Rajputana. In the other districts of India, South India, Transcaspia, Malabar, Orissa, Behar, Bengal and Kashmir, and in Burma, rice is the most essential article of food. However, wheat is gradually becoming more popular, as in China, Japan, Malaya, Java and Siam.

Japs Fish off Alaskan Coast

Fears that Japanese fishermen may destroy the whole fishing industry in the Pacific waters along the coast of Canada and Alaska by not permitting salmon to reach their spawning haunts, has Canadian and American fishery authorities worried. Huge floating canneries operated by Japanese are reported working the rich fishing grounds which Canadian and American fishermen work on a treaty basis, and it is disclosed that the Japanese have formed an artificial shore line outside the three-mile limit in Alaskan waters by use of three sets of nets, each two miles in length, which effectively prevent salmon from reaching shore waters. American and Canadian fishermen are permitted only 900-foot gill nets. The photos show a map of Alaska's Bristol Bay, a favorite salmon haunt, and of a Japanese cannery vessel anchored in Alaskan waters.

Fact and Fiction . . .

By ART

LACOMBE Public Library has just placed on its shelves "The Face of London," a splendidly illustrated description of that great metropolis, by Harold Clunn. It covers the whole city, with a short history of every important building, street or bridge.

Illustrations of Broadcasting House, Langham Place; the new Daily Express building in Fleet Street, the Daily Telegraph building and many others show the ultra-modern trend which is now the vogue in London . . . and strange as it seems, within a stone's throw of some of the newest buildings stand weary-looking structures which have seen the Crimean, Boer and Great War eras come and go without even as much as a brick being changed.

Old Countrymen or those who have visited London should find many an hour's good reading in this volume.

WE GROW accustomed to hearing the latest stories and wise cracks from young fellows just in on the noon train from the city, dressed in neat check suits and shining Oxford shoes. . . . When we are caught sleeping with a razor sharp story by someone with an entirely different appearance, our surprise is increased a hundredfold.

About a dozen years ago, I was standing on Victoria Avenue in Kamloops, watching, with crowds of others, the parade bands which were parading the streets in full regalia. Folks had gathered in Kamloops from as far away as a hundred miles, for it is not often they, or anyone else, has the opportunity of hearing the famous Coldstream Guards Band from England, the Calgary Elks' Band of about 30 pieces, and the Kamloops Military Band.

I was soon talking to a little old fellow standing beside me—he was of a nondescript type, for he might have been a miner, farmer or almost anything. He didn't appear overly bright in any way, but was nevertheless quite pleasant. Finally he said: "Yes, it's sure a big day for Kamloops. Imagine Four bands being here all on the one day!"

Well, I took a thorough survey up and down the avenue but all I could see was Three bands. He still insisted there were Four, so I asked him to explain. "Well," says he, "there's the Coldstream Band, the Calgary Elks' Band, the Kamloops Band

Do You Remember—'Way Back When?

(From the Minutes of the Town Council)

30 YEARS AGO—September, 1907
Councillors H. A. Murphy and F. E. McGee reported to the council on the activities and results of the Alberta Municipalities Convention held in Medicine Hat recently.

Councillor W. J. Simpson spoke at length on the appointment of a collector for the Poll Tax. No definite decision or appointment was reached.

25 YEARS AGO—September, 1912
A special meeting to consider tenders on the new curling and skating rink was called. A plan of the proposed building, along with an estimate calling for an expenditure of $5,455, was laid before the council by G. P. Vickers. On a motion by Councillor J. Fraser, seconded by Councillor F. E. McGee, Vickers was awarded the contract pending the submission of plans and specifications of the building.

Canadian Churches Move to Aid Drought Areas

and the Band of Hope."

Smart old fellow, that.

MOTORISTS driving through Millet on the way to or from Edmonton have probably noticed the large signs erected by the village council at both entrances to the place on the highway. They read something like this:

"Village of Millet. Children Ahead—Drive Slowly."

There are many other signs of this nature throughout the country, but I thought that this one was particularly appropriate, for it reveals that the first thoughts of the councilors in that little village had been for those little toddlers (our children) who are too young to protect themselves.

PASTURAGE PROBLEM

Australia has its pasturage problem, for it is calculated that five rabbits—and there are millions of them—eat as much pasturage as one sheep. Wire-net fences of great length are used to restrain the ravages of these pests. One fence is 500 feet long and another is 850 miles. Steel posts have been found the cheapest in the long run, not only because they resist bush fires, but last longer underground.

RESTRICTIVE TAXES PROVE VERY COSTLY

Those states which would add restrictive tax and highway barrier laws to their legislative enactments should "Stop, Look and Listen". They might profit from the experience of New Mexico, which enacted a caravan law under which the state collected a fee for use of its roads from common carriers and caravanners. The law was upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court and was held up as a model for this type of legislation.

Officials of this southwestern state woke one gloomy morning a few weeks ago and found out that although their receipts from enforcement of their caravan law amounted to $223,000 for the year July 1, 1936, to June 30, 1937, their tourist business had gone to pot. In addition, it cost $83,000 to operate their port of entry system for their new law. While tourist business was increasing by leaps and bounds in neighboring states, in New Mexico it was down almost one-third for the first quarter of 1937 as compared with the same period last year.

Business men all over the state soon saw the danger, and conclusively demonstrated that the state stood to lose $20,000,000 which is one-third of its tourist revenue, in order to collect $250,000 in road tax. This was convincing enough argument to discontinue it.

To Hold Canadian .22 Rifle "Bisley" Matches

(From Our Own Correspondent)

MONTREAL.—What might very well be called the Great Canadian .22 Bisley is about to get under way for Provincial and Dominion Championships. From Sept. 15 to Oct. 15 representative teams from some 1700 sporting rifle clubs scattered all over Canada will enter the 1937 Dominion Marksmen .22 Sporting Rifle Championship Competition, to be shot on a 20-yard expert target.

These clubs are almost entirely made up of boys and young men who, until the advent of organized shooting under the aegis of Dominion Marksmen, spent both their time and their ammunition in taking pot shots at tin cans, gophers, crows and very possibly the old stray cat. Now, from the great unknown hosts of 22 rifle addicts in every city, town and village in Canada will arise a championship team which will be judged on the best targets turned in.

Rules of Competition
This competition is open to teams with a minimum of five and a maximum of seven men and-or women from any rifle group in the Dominion of Canada, registered with Dominion Marksmen. Competitors must be bona fide enrolled members of the group for which they shoot, and no competitor may represent more than one group. Where groups enter more than one team, competitors may fire for one team only in each match. Team captain may, however, switch his personnel for other matches if they so desire.

A trophy will be awarded to the team from each province making the highest aggregate score in the three matches. This will be a perpetual trophy and will be held for one year by the team winning it. The trophy itself will be an attractive silver maple leaf shield.

At the conclusion of the three matches, the provincial championship teams will shoot off for the Dominion Marksmen Challenge Trophy, emblematic of the 22 Sporting Rifle Team Championship of Canada. This trophy, a handsome silver shield in maple leaf design, is to be held for the period of one year. A miniature of this trophy will also be awarded.

Radio Star Appears At Avalon Theatre This Week

Bobby Breen, the boy singer of the radio, made famous on the Eddie Cantor program, comes to the screen of the Avalon Theatre this Thursday, Friday and Saturday in his second picture, "Rainbow on the River". The silver-voiced boy has shown a wide range of talent, both as an actor and singer, and definitely establishes himself as a bet on the screen.

May Robson adds a blend of comedy and pathos to the picture, and Charles Butterworth is outstanding. The rest of the cast makes as perfect a support as one has seen in many a picture. The music is one of the top spots of the film.

The plot itself is a sentimental comedy-drama, plentifully interspersed with song numbers and well packed with laughter and tears.

Licensing Acts Said to be Beginning of Dictatorship

By T. B. WINDROSS

EDMONTON.—Laws without precedent in British history have come into the Alberta Legislature during the present session. By new act brought into the House by the Minister of Trade and Industry, Hon. E. C. Manning, Premier William Aberhart's right-hand man and ex-secretary of the Calgary Bible Institute, has absolute authority to decree that any business or trade or occupation within the province and there is nothing to say that farming is not included—can be carried on only by license. He has absolute authority to refuse a license to any man engaged or employed in any business or occupation, or to suspend or cancel any license already granted. One minister thus becomes the absolute dictator of the livelihood, or lack of it, of 750,000 Albertans, according to the act.

He has power to close down any business—any farm or store or barber shop, bank or grain elevator which he chooses, provided he says it is "in the public interest." It has been denied, of course, that there is any intention of using any authority like that, but the power is there, in the terms of the act.

Minister Has Full Power
In addition, the minister has full power to set the amount of license fees applying to any individual business or employee. Only maximum amounts are set, and these $1000 for a company, $300 for an agent of a company, and $100 for individuals.

According to advance reports, the bill was aimed particularly at banks and at newspapers. Along with the terms of the press bill itself, the licensing act would permit the government to close down any newspaper, or take the livelihood away from any newspaperman, presuming to report anything the government did not like, or publish any criticism of the government and so-called "Social Credit."

Strangulation of the free press was the first step taken by Benito Mussolini when he set about establishing his dictatorship—before he began collecting multiple portfolios in the government for himself to establish a one-man cabinet.

Now press licensing and control enters the Alberta scene. A bill has been introduced to set up a board to distribute "news" and "information" about the Aberhart government and the Social Credit party. The bill would require all newspapers, and to attempt to assure that the government and the board could have published in this province's excellent weekly newspapers the things that officialdom wants published.

Higher Bank Taxes
Banks operating in Alberta are to be taxed a total of $2,500,000 annually, according to the terms of another act as it was introduced. That means a tax of $13,000 annually on the average bank branch in Alberta, in the average town. And that levy takes no account of other taxes in the form of licenses, or of municipal or Dominion income taxes. Of 221 branches of banks in Alberta, 180 have been operating at a loss in recent years, according to recently broadcast bank statements. There are no huge profits from which the taxes can be taken. It remains to be seen whether some branches must close down, or whether borrowers must bear the cost of that taxation.

"Expert" Is Engaged
The business of being a Social Credit "expert" has become recognized by the government now; it has agreed to pay L. D. Byrne, a young Englishman who has been working in an insurance office at Birmingham, $2750 for his travelling expenses from Birmingham to Edmonton so that, when he gets here, he can be "experting" on a 10-year contract. That $2750 will be enough, presumably, to pay the boat fare Alberta has just paid for Mr. Byrne and members of his family whom

Australia Turns Down Social Credit Most Decisively

This is a continuation of an article published in last week's issue of the Globe, dealing with the findings of the Australian Commission after its probe into the Social Credit theory.

By W. M. DAVIDSON

The commissioners proceed to discuss three other arguments used by some Social Crediters:

1. Wages spent in advance of production (for example, wages paid to carpenters during construction of a house and spent before the house is completed), according to some Social Crediters, implies shortage of purchasing power. The commissioners answer that no industry is self-contained. The available purchasing power at any time depends upon the continuity of industry as a whole. "If each industry continues to carry on its operations, the available purchasing power consists of the whole of its wages, salaries and profits, and these in turn will at least equal the total cost of the commodities produced," the commission found.

2. Cancellation of bank credit destroys buying power, some argue. The answer is obvious. If cancellation of banking credit destroys, the issuance of other bank credit expands buying power. It may be true that in Alberta, where government policy is directly aimed at banking administration, cancellation of bank credit may exceed the re-issuance, and that tends to create a serious situation, but that unfortunate situation is local and not general and is the outcome of a special policy of an inefficient administration.

3. The presence of savings creates a shortage of buying power, others may argue. The answer is complete and brief:—At any moment some are saving out of income, others are spending past savings, others are borrowing against future savings. By and large there is an equilibrium and a fairly even balance.

The report of the commission is long and exhaustive, but little more need be said about it. The Douglas plan is based on a fallacy—that is a mistake, an error, and a delusion. The people of Alberta are proving that the plan is a fantasy but at a very terrible cost.

A Further Suggestion
I have one further suggestion to make and it is plain enough. If any of my readers still believes in the virtue of the plan, or any one is uncertain or doubtful about it, let him write Mr. Aberhart and ask him to give some consideration in some of his speeches or broadcasts to the Australian Commission's report, and explain why it condemns so sweepingly and without question the entire Douglas system.

I had intended in this letter to discuss the cost of the experiment to the people of Alberta, but shall deal with that important subject in a subsequent letter.

Letters to the Editor

turer's credit, that is his capabilities, honesty and securities, is the basis of the loan, but he cannot use it unless it be monetized, and only a bank can so monetize it, which it does, or does not, as it pleases. Banks, therefore, have a monopoly of credit and thus "hold the people in the hollow of their hands."

Repayment depends not only on the borrower's ability but on the general policy of the banks in the meantime. If they restrict credit, as in 1929, money becomes scarce and prices fall. It matters not what else a borrower produces or grows, he must repay money, the one thing which he cannot produce, the creation of money being the sole monopoly of the banks, hence they control the destiny of the people, for if the banks do not choose to make enough money, debts cannot be paid, and the borrowers lose their securities and are made to default.

There is nothing visionary about it from the borrower's point of view—he puts up real, tangible security, in excess of the loan. The banks lend their credit, i.e., "promises to pay," and charge 8 per cent—for what? For their success in persuading the public that they are lending real money which they can, and will, pay in currency on demand.

But what really is behind their promise to pay?—10 per cent cash and 90 per cent Public Faith? Mr. Knowles states that besides the 10 per cent cash, there are huge sums in other assets which can be converted into cash. But where is the cash to come from? There is only two or three hundred million dollars in currency in all Canada, while the deposits amount to two or three thousand millions.

Mr. Knowles remarks that "the whole population is not going to close out, it's accounts all at once." At last we have the truth, but if the whole population did, 90 per cent would be disappointed. Then why prevaricate as he does when he says: "Out of the fact that banks in practice keep about 10 per cent of their deposits available in cash has been developed the amazing distortion that we lend our deposits (in times over)." Will Mr. Knowles declare that the English Macmillan Report is guilty of an amazing distortion when it states: "Banks can carry on a process of lending, and purchasing investments, until such times as the credits created, or investments purchased, represent nine times the amount of the original deposit of £1000 in cash." That is the truth.

Mr. Knowles tells us that the banks merely lend £900 of the £1000 and keep £100 in cash. That is not the truth—it is incorrect. What they do is keep the £1000 in cash, and then create credit, which they loan at interest or buy investments on which they collect dividends or interest "up to nine times the amount of the original deposit of £1000 in cash," or ten times the amount as stated by Mr. Knowles.

H. D. McLeod, M.A., a barrister, was selected by a Royal Commission to prepare a Digest on the Law of Credit, and published a book, "The Theory of Credit," in 1897. This is quoted as one of the highest authorities on the subject. On Page 607 is the following:

"It is commonly supposed that a banker's profit consists in the difference between the interest he pays for the money he borrows and the interest he charges for the money he lends. The banker's profit consists exclusively in the profit he can make by creating and issuing credit in excess of the specie he holds in reserve. No bank which issues credit only in exchange for money ever did, or by any possibility could, make profit. It only begins to make profit when it creates and issues credit in excess of the credit it creates in exchange for money; when it begins to buy debts payable at a future time, for which it charges a discount, which according to Mill, is robbery. And the whole of a banker's profit consists in the quantity of debts he can purchase with his own credit."

The consequence is that banks "control the policy of governments and hold in their hands the destiny of the people." That is why the banks are desperately anxious to hide the truth, and why they pay Mr. Knowles a big salary to try to fool the people.

Through The Eyes of A Country Woman

By BRIDGET

FALL is with us again, and what a variety of thoughts it must bring to different women. To some it must seem a season of sadness: the falling leaves, the fading flowers, the rains, the cessation of summer activities—to others it may mean the promise of rest, the lessening of the strain of trying to get a million things finished during the fine months.

But to some, with what dismay must this forerunner of winter fill them—the mental distress of wondering and scheming how best Junior and little sister can be armed against the bitter months to come—whether eldest sister's coat can be cut down for the next, and if so, whether it will be warm enough, and the thought of suitable covering for these little bodies. To what a number of women this season brings these unanswerable questions!

REFRESHING

THE WARDROBE. On the other hand, to some women Fall means the replenishing of the winter wardrobe—the eager scanning of fashion papers to see what Paris and New York are wearing. (Oh yes, even country women have their ambitions!). Some can afford to re-decorate their homes, others can buy an odd piece of furniture or so. The majority clean up the paint, re-calcamine where necessary and have a regular Fall cleaning. . . . And so many will move a piece of furniture to an unaccustomed place for a change, for surely change or variety is the spice of life, and hasn't Fall infinite variety?—hot days when the bugbear of winter seems far away, cold days when it seems so near.

The leaves of green, of red and yellow blending in a wonderful galaxy of color—also the fields of ripened grain, the green fields of late sown rye and clover, and the fading flowers—but all carry their offering of seed, promise of the Spring to come, when life will all begin anew. The buildings, washed white with the Fall rains, or hastily repainted against the winter setting in, add to the kaleidoscope of changing scenes noticeable in Fall. Add to this the lovely blue skies, which in the evening will be splashed with the crimson and flaming glory of a harvest sunset, or become overcast with the dark purple of a threatening storm—who can deny that Fall has infinite variety, and must be therefore beloved of women whom the poets charge from time immemorial with being changeable, variable and fickle?

A SENSE OF PEACE

Many of us women feel a lovely sense of peace coming to us as Fall gives us the promise of winter—of cosy evenings to be spent with our "soot-so-tired" husbands, perhaps catching up a little on our reading, for which there has been no time during the busy, useful, jolly months of summer; a little promise of a resting time in which to refresh our minds, or perhaps delight our senses in losing ourselves peacefully in the delights of beautiful music via the radio, or perhaps to be able to take time to become better acquainted with our neighbors.

To the younger generation, the battle of life in Spring.

Tees Tattle Tales

By TATTLER

TEES.—The population of the district increased during the past week by two, due to the birth of a couple of future young women. To date, neither have been officially named, but their fathers, Earl Barnes and Ferny Harris, are considering buying up the town's supply of cigars. Of course this has been delayed by the recent rains, making it necessary to dry out the cabbage leaves before rolling them.

We see by the Edmonton Bulletin that our home-town M.L.A., Bruce McMillan, has reached the half-score mark, as to years, and that he made a bull's-eye when he seconded the Speech from the Throne at the recent opening of the House. The only trouble, according to that paper, is that he lives in Lacombe. Of course they can be excused for little errors like that, but the people of Tees don't like overlooking the suggestion that Tees is a suburb of Lacombe.

The district was shocked by the recent death of Mrs. Ed. Capling, who moved to the Ponoka district last Spring from here. Very little has happened lately except another entrant in the field for pie-making honors. To date, those tested have been delicious, but time will tell as more samples are tasted.

Threshing Held Up. Rain has held up threshing for a week now and it looks like at least another week before the threshers can again start to hum.

Many were observed during the evenings last week harvesting their corn, beans, cucumbers and posies. Those who failed to heed the weather man awakened to find that the tender garden truck was beyond use, as old John Frost had paid his visit and left his culling cards of blackened leaves.

Publicity Aids Art In South Australia

ADELAIDE, South Australia.—A grant from the Carnegie Corporation of New York has enabled the governors of the National Art Gallery to extend their plans for popularizing art to the country. Extensive alterations had just been completed to the gallery on North Terrace, and the director, Louis McCubbin, considers it now to be one of the best appointed in Australia.

He wanted to sell his baby car and at last persuaded a likely customer to inspect the rickety old thing.

Owner: "The roads maps are included in the price." Prospective Buyer: "And is a railway timetable included?"

the promise is more of sleighing parties and dances, but to all the Fall means but a stepping stone to the many delights which can be ours during the winter.

I like to believe it is God's slowing up the rush of this world as a prelude to a few months' calm preparation for the battle of life in Spring.

Haynes

(From Our Own Correspondent)

HAYNES.—Threshing machines were humming all over the district last week but the rain has silenced them this week. However, we hope to hear them humming again soon.

The September meeting of the Haynes Ladies' Aid was held in the church, with a good turnout of members. Mrs. Randall acted as hostess and served a most delicious lunch. The ladies are putting on a short play after their chicken supper and bazaar, to be held early in November. The next meeting will take the form of a quilting bee. This meeting will be held in the church, with

Mrs. MacDonald acting as hostess.

Returns From Edmonton. Mrs. Fawcett returned home last week after several weeks spent in the University Hospital, Edmonton, and we are pleased to report that she is looking fine and feeling quite well.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Welsch of Rimbey spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Paul and family. They report good crops in their district.

Joe Cameron left this week for Nova Scotia with a carload of horses, which he intends to sell there.

Mr. and Mrs. Norqay and the girls of Edmonton were recent visitors to Haynes.

AND LUGS
KEEP WHEELS MOVING THROUGH MUD AND SNOW

FOR TRUCKS AND BUSES

In going where ordinary truck tires keep you in constant fear of slipping, sliding or stalling, you can drive with complete confidence on Goodyear Lug Tires. Their sturdy, self-cleaning lug bite into slippery mud and find safe, sure traction. Deep snow won't worry you—nor greasy, slick, crowded roads. Goodyear Lug Truck Tires have been proven over more miles of "impossible" roads than you'll ever encounter. Because of their matchless grip they save time, gas and oil. As your Goodyear dealer.
